SENATORIAL CONVENTION.

The Republican voters of the Eighteenth Senatorial District, composed of the counties of Gallia, Meigs, Vinton and Lawrence, will take notice that a Convention will be held at

Gallipolis, Thursday, Sept. 16, 1875,

at 11 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of putting in nomination a candidate for the State Senate, to be voted for at the ensuing State election.

The basis of representation therein will be one delegate for every two hundred votes, or fraction thereof of one hundred votes and over, cast for A. T. Wilcox at the last State election. Under this basis the counties will be entitled as follows:

Gallia.....2126 11
Meigs.....2738 14
Vinton.....1273 6
Lawrence.....2402 12

By order of the Committee.
JOSEPH HUNT, Gallia,
E. S. BRANCE, Meigs,
JNO. T. RAFFER, Vinton,
E. B. WILKARD, Lawrence,
Sen. Cen. Committee.

The Grand Rally.

Thursday, September 9th, will be a noted day to the people of Gallia county. On that occasion they will be offered the opportunity, but seldom presented, of hearing the political issues of the day discussed by speakers of National reputation. Gen. OULESKY, of Illinois, recently Governor, and now U. S. Senator, is one of the great Orators of the West, and this may be the only opportunity ever presented to our people to hear him. Gen. KREPP is an Ohio man, a gallant soldier in the late war, and an able and earnest speaker.

Come everybody; come from hill and valley; come from farm and workshop, from counting room and store, from mine and furnace, and listen to these gallant and eloquent speakers in behalf of the right and the true.

We have said that the "Labor Reform" meetings, being advertised in this section, were a democratic movement in disguise. We have the proof in hand. It is contained in the Cincinnati Enquirer, in a letter from Jackson, which says, in speaking of one of these meetings at Hamden, "The bread thus scattered upon the waters will be gathered on the 12th of October." It is a clear case of deception, fraud, and done in the name of workingmen! What can these hard workers hope from a party who will thus perpetrate a fraud in their name? If you could get at the true inwardness of this movement, we are satisfied you would find that this workingman's speaker was a paid hireling of the democratic State Executive Committee, sent out in the name of Labor Reform to work for Allen, Cary, Aleshire & Co. Put Vance upon the witness stand, not through the columns of the Bulletin, for they show that he is a party criminal in the fraud, but with uplifted hand, in the presence of his God for a false oath, and we believe he will testify that it is a democratic trick.

If democrats want working men to vote for Allen and Cary, why not say so in direct terms? Why adopt the disguise of "Labor Reform"? Why resort to deception and fraud in any shape? Honesty is the best policy in politics as well as in everything else. This "Labor Reform" dodge should open the eyes and teach the understanding of workingmen. If the Allen-Caryites will resort to such false designs to win votes for their favorites, can you place any confidence in their professions of regard for your interests? No, responds the good sense of every thoughtful man. They will disappoint you in the hour of trial.

The Cincinnati Commercial says, "Hayes will beat Allen more than he beat Thurman or Pendleton." Nevertheless, keep the fires burning. Let it be a burial.

The democratic politicians say there is no danger touching the free school system. If this be the truth, why is it that they don't lecture the Catholic Telegraph, of Cincinnati, for continually bringing the question forward. You never read of the Bulletin denouncing the course of the Telegraph, and yet the Telegraph, in its issue of as late as August 26th, says:

"We have agitated, and shall continue to agitate, for our share of the school fund as long as we are taxed to support schools which Catholic children can not attend. We look in the future for the abolition of this terrible grievance."

In connection with this, take the following from the Telegraph, which appeared in its issue immediately following the passage of the Gaghan bill:

"The unbroken, solid vote of the Catholic citizens of the State will be given to the Democracy at the fall election."

Taking the two extracts together you have not only a good reason why the Bulletin remains silent upon the question of free schools, but you have undisputed evidence that the democratic party is dependent upon to do justice to the Catholics in dividing the school fund, for which they "have agitated, and shall continue to agitate." It seems to us that no sane mind can fail to see danger to our common school system in view of plainly existing facts.

We like to quote from Gen. Durbin Ward. He is a democrat that stands by the time-honored principles of the party. He cannot follow Cary, the new convert, who is running the machine into repudiation, and therefore cries aloud:

The whole scheme is therefore impracticable, short of repudiation. Besides, how many more greenbacks do "the wants of trade" require? Will some apostle of cottonization tell us? No amount has been named by any Solomon of the earth any more than a castle in Spain. The dream of making money by printing paper has in it the charm of romance to the unthinking, but either vanishes into "thin air" or settles into pestilential miasma whenever attempted to be realized in practice.

When Bill Allen was here he opened his speech with the picture of a poor barefooted boy who "let" his first meal in Ohio in Gallipolis. That boy was me, Bill Allen, and now I come back to you Governor of Ohio. Gen. HAYES when here also related the incidents of his first appearance in Gallipolis. He came as the commander of two regiments of infantry and a battery of artillery, to protect the town and the State against the raiding troops of John Morgan. While Gen. Hayes was engaged in this patriotic duty, Allen was at work making speeches in favor of the election of Vallandigham for Governor! The comparison need not be extended. It is becoming too odious. We leave the question of which candidate is most worthy of support to the voters.

MARTHA ELLEN GRIGGS, a colored girl of 19, choked her new-born baby to death at Portsmouth last week and threw the body in a vault. She made a full confession. She stated that she had been treated by a physician in this city for dyspepsia.

That great Statesman of the Bulletin is slated to speak his piece in the northern part of the State. The populace will turn out, we know, with banners.

BILL ALLEN can't avoid displaying the sting of the copperhead occasionally. In a speech last week, in speaking of the Republican party, he said:

"They have abused that power in all sorts of ways, by stealing and by bayonets."

Union boys with bayonets still trouble the old man's waking and sleeping hours.

The Allen-Caryites are enthused over the startling head lines of the Cincinnati Enquirer, touching the Cincinnati failures. They think they see votes in these failures, and that is all the feeling they have in regard to them. The sufferings of the people are of no consequence to them.

Tux democrats cry, the times are hard, let us have a change. So say we, Bill Allen has been Governor for nearly two years, and yet no improvement. Let us make a change, and see if the hard times won't ease up.

SENATOR MORFON, of Indiana, will speak at Jackson on the 13th, and at Ironton on the 15th.

GEN. J. D. COE sustains the Republican platform and favors the election of Gov. Hayes. Senator Fenelon, of New York, does the same. These gentlemen supported Greeley, in connection with the democracy, for President, but the action of the new Ohio Democracy has disgusted them, and they are compelled to seek other political associations.

GEN. CARY carries his son with him to write up his meetings for the Cincinnati Enquirer. Shame.

REPUBLICAN meetings everywhere close with rousing cheers for honest money, free schools, Gov. Hayes and the Republican ticket. Let the shout be taken up by hill and valley, and made potent for good to the whole people.

Nuts for the Caryites.

The Ohio Democratic platform states: "That the continuation of the currency hereafter made by the Republican party, &c." Gen. Cary amplifies this construction idea when he says:

When we take into consideration the extent to which construction has been carried out as a matter of no surprise that our iron furnaces, rolling mills, glass works, cotton and woolen factories, in short, our entire manufacturing industries are prostrated.

We call Gen. Durbin Ward to the stand, a democrat of twenty years standing, fighting for and earnestly upholding the principles of the party when Cary was crusading against beer-jerkers and drinkers, calling the Germans who drank their beer, "a dwarfed, diseased and inferior race, physically, mentally and morally."

What does Gen. Ward say? Here is his testimony—democratic testimony at that, please remember. We copy from his Lebanon speech, made at a democratic meeting, to-wit:

The currency has been constantly expanded for seven years, and is greater now than it ever was before since the panic of 1873 than for six years before.

This is no "Republican lie"—it is the testimony of an honored democratic leader, the difference between him and Allen and Cary being, that they are candidates for office, while the General is not. Allen and Cary are, therefore, interested witnesses, and hence, according to all the rules of justice, are to be discredited when contradicted by a disinterested witness.

At all events, in any view, it is a hard nut for the Caryites to deal with.

Those who Suffer.

The attempt is made by the inflationists to convince the men who work for days' wages, that more paper money is of especial interest to them, as it will largely benefit their hard condition. This is a deception and a fallacy. Of all men in the world they are the first to suffer from a depreciated currency. We think this can be made plain by a simple, practical illustration. Coffee is not produced in this country; it is an imported article, and it takes gold to buy it. When brought to this country and sold for greenbacks, the price is fixed so as to cover the difference between a paper dollar and a gold dollar, which on Friday last was 13-10 cents. Now, when the workingman is paid his greenback dollar for his day's work, and he goes to his grocery man to buy his coffee, that dollar will only buy 87-9-10 cents' worth. If he had been paid in a gold dollar or its equivalent, he could buy a full dollar's worth. As it is, in every five pounds of coffee purchased by him he loses 60 cents. All who handle the article, from the importer to the retail dealer, make their profit; a depreciated currency does not affect them, for though gold, in the first place, pay in gold, still when they come to sell for greenbacks they advance the price so as to fully make up the difference between the two descriptions of value; but when it comes to the workingman, it is otherwise. He is compelled to lose the difference between the value of a gold dollar and a paper dollar, and hence also becomes the sufferer from a depreciated currency. To prove this, it is only necessary to take a gold dollar and a paper dollar to your groceryman, and then you will find that the one will buy more than the other, as much more as is the difference in the value of the two, daily quoted in your papers.

Gen. Jackson had a correct knowledge of this question, and evinced a true interest in the cause of the workingman, when he uttered these words:

"A paper currency is a great curse to any people, and a particular curse to the laborer of any country, for its depreciation always falls upon the laborer."

It is possible, in view of the manifold evils and hardships it will bring upon them, that workingmen can be gulled with the inflation rag-baby of Bill Allen and Sam Cary?

We believe it was Geo. H. Pendleton who opened the democratic campaign in this city as the special friend of Treasury notes. The same gentleman made a speech in Edinburgh, Indiana, in August, 1866, in which he made use of the following language:

"That is the person who at this time throughout all the Northwest, more than in any other portion of the country, in addition to the expenditure, which would naturally be required for the purchase of Treasury notes and National bank notes have been substituted for gold and silver, this is an additional reason why you feel an increased expense upon everything you wear, from the shoes on your feet to the hats on your heads; and in everything you use, from the pen-knife in your pockets to the plowshare that turns up your soil."

In 1875 greenbacks are the salvation of the workingman, while by the same authority, in 1866, they were his ruin! What an elastic thing this modern commodity called democracy is. How can any sane voter, any man who desires to stand well before his fellow citizens for consistency and political integrity—vote for a party with such a twisted record.

The True Policy.

Gen. HAYES, our noble standard-bearer, stated a great truth, when at Dayton, last week, he said:

The Democracy of to-day want to take the currency until its value is reduced a half or more, while the Republicans want nothing to do with it, but let the volume of the currency alone until the condition of the country permits resumption.

The Weakest Point.

Gen. Durbin Ward is a democrat who cannot be beguiled by the demagoguery of Allen, Cary, Vance, Aleshire & Co. into supporting the inflation scheme. He sees in it not only a wide departure from democratic principles, but only disaster and ruin to the country, affecting the laborer more disastrously than any other.

Here is an extract from his speech worth reading and considering:

But some inflationists may say, why not keep our money at home? Gold is forever being drained from us to pay interest on the public and corporate debt, and while we are in debt, how can we resume specie payments? Perhaps this is the weakest point in the whole inflation scheme. If we pay gold interest abroad, does the "companion effect" eat the gold as he would an orange? He has it as a matter of fact, and if it is worth more in America than in Europe it will come here; if not it will go like any other thing of value, where it commands the highest price. If we want it, let us sell our wheat, cotton, or whatever else for it, instead of exchanging for them silks, wines or foreign gew-gaws which perish with the using, and unproductive instead of enriching us.

If we prefer to have a Chinese policy to discourage commerce with foreign countries, by having a currency they cannot use, we must pay the penalty. But if we want gold there is no country in the world where it can be had more readily. And it is in this very item of foreign trade where our demagogues are hurt most. All that we have to sell abroad is measured by the world's standard, not ours. The foreign market, therefore, fixes prices in this country. If we sell our wheat, cotton, wool, all species of manufactures, and indeed all articles the world desires, we must sell at the prices which they command abroad. We only export the surplus, but the price of the whole product is fixed abroad, and the farmer, planter and manufacturer must, therefore, sell not only what he exports, but what he sells at home, at the gold standard, and in effect, while the cost of production is at the standard of the inflated medium of his own country. All his raw material, expenses and taxes are on the credit money standard, and he is, therefore, driven by the folly of his Government to compete with the foreigner, weighted down by the discount of the home currency, and to throw most of the burden upon the shoulders of labor. Upon the laborer, therefore, falls a great part of our present currency evil. Capital can wait a time any how without profit, but labor must constantly live or starve, and is therefore always ruled by the necessities of the hour. But even the capitalist feels sensibly this tax on his productions. He trades at a disadvantage, and every industry in the country is thereby retarded or retarded by this currency burthen. The pretext on which the system was adopted fourteen years ago was the necessities of war, and even then it was a great part of the reason why the system was adopted, and it is not proposed to continue it, but to increase this currency and make it the permanent monetary system of the country. No state in the world has ever thought of adopting in peace an expedient never attempted to be justified except to meet the pressure of war, and even then that pressure it was denounced as unconstitutional by the whole Democratic party. The Supreme Court at first declared these "greenbacks" unconstitutional, and that decision was only reversed by creating new Judges, appointed to make the reversal, and even then by a majority of but one.

The decision, in short, stands, was made solely on the ground of the necessities of war. A new issue in peace would be declared unconstitutional by the present Court on the very reasoning on which they sustained the old one.

SAM. CARY told his friends at Zaleski that the rag-baby party was certain to carry Lawrence county, and that too by a large majority. Our information is the reverse of this. A well-informed gentleman in that county, one not given to boasting, writes us these cheering words: "Republican prospects bright down here." Pay no attention to democratic bragging, do your duty, vote right, and a Republican victory is a sure and certain thing.

Does ALESHIRE believe what Sam Cary says, "our system of National banks is a stupendous swindle?"

The editor of the Bulletin whistles through two or three columns this week. It serves to keep up his courage.

Will they, or Will They Not. Sam Cary says:

"Our system of National Banks is a stupendous swindle."

Will the democrats of Gallia county go back on Sam Cary, and vote for Aleshire, a Director in one of these "stupendous swindles," or will they not. This is fast becoming an important question, and its solution is awaited with great interest.

There has been a small financial flurry in San Francisco. A run was made on the Bank of California, and after paying out $1,400,000, it was compelled to stop payment. This produced great excitement, and a run was made on the other banks, two of which were driven to suspend temporarily. The cause of these suspensions is attributed to disastrous stock gambling. There was too much inflation.

One of the most serious results of these suspensions is the suicide of Baskin, President of the California Bank. He could not stand the disgrace of the thing, and so drowned himself.

The impudence of a family ring democrat cannot be matched this side of the infernal regions. We declined to announce a democratic meeting under the disguise of "Labor Reform," for reasons apparent to every eye, and because of that refusal the hired pups go about the streets barking at the editor. Well, let them bark until they become hoarse, and still the ring will be as far from controlling the columns of the JOURNAL as ever. The JOURNAL is the organ of the people, and not of the family ring, or any other ring, and will continue to be so just as long as the present management controls its columns. Satanic impudence on the part of the family ring, nor from any other source, can make us agree the least from the line of duty to the people.

News getting low.
Farmers are busy plowing for wheat. Grangers are preparing for a jolly time next Saturday—may they not be disappointed.

On Saturday, the 4th of September, there will be a picnic near town during the day a game of base-ball at 2 P. M., and a political meeting in the evening. Come to Cheshire and have a happy time.

The Republicans of the township, we are confident, will poll a full vote in October. We will give Hayes 140 majority, and next Saturday evening we will give Grosvener and Stone a good audience. Look out for Cheshire.

We read the last copy of the Journal, we read the following: "The Cheshire Base-Ball Club was beaten badly by the Mutuals of Middleport." I did not know that we had a club here, but upon inquiry I learned that the Mutuals, Jr., stopped on their way home from Jackson, and played some small boys about a mile above town. I am surprised that such a famous club as the Mutuals, Jr., would crowd over such a victory, and that the "Meigs County News" would make mention of it. I think our boys should be proud of these five runs they made.

The moral people of our town and community are indignant, and we think they will better hold an indignation meeting. You will not wonder what for when we state that a whisky saloon is about to be opened in our midst. We hope and believe that it cannot exist.

talk about Republican proscription. This is the old story of the thief who was the loudest in the cry of "stop thief!" But how about democratic proscription. At the last spring election a prominent young democrat voted for Mayor Brad, and no sooner was the fact made known than a member of the family ring pronounced sentence upon him—"need never seek for office in the democratic party, for he should not have it."
